Career Exploration and Planning:

The career-planning part of the Profile of a Virginia Graduate gives ALL students an opportunity to learn more about employment options and career choices. One powerful piece of this profile is that it includes opportunities building skills needed to be successfully employed after high school. Beginning in elementary school, schools must provide chances for students to know what types of jobs are available, to see what jobs they prefer and to learn the job skills that will be needed for future employment. The profile requires schools to expand work-based and job skill programs. This could include internships (both paid and unpaid), externships and credentialing classes.
